Judge nixes Pass annex proposal

BY ED LEPOMA
Residents of Pass Christian Isles and Henderson Point will not be annexed by Pass Christian.

A special judge appointed by the Chancery court of Harrison County to hear the case thwarted the city's latest effort to gobble up more land to the west in a lengthy and scathing opinion issued Friday.

Former Mississippi Supreme Court Justice R.P. Sugg said evidence presented in a two-week trial showed, "The city has consistently overspent its budget and overspent its revenues (since 1991).

And, he added, "The court has no reason to believe that it is going to meet the budget that was adopted for the ensuing fiscal year."

In ruling that "the annexation is not reasonable," Sugg also commended the more than 600 members of the Henderson Point/Pass Christian Isles Civic Association.

"They are doing for themselves what many people expect from a municipal government. Grass roots movements like this should be encouraged and they should not be saddled by a government that has a long history of irresponsible spending," said Sugg.

Sugg, who also heard Gulfport's successful petition to annex the Orange Grove Community, ruled against all reasons Pass Christian made in the petition to annex an estimated 730 additional acres of land on the peninsula that sits on the westernmost end of Harrison County.

The proposed annexation would have increased the city's land area from 5,406 acres to 6,136 acres. Its population would have increased from 5,557 to 6,216, using 1990 census figures.

In return, Pass Christian -- within five years -- promised to extend sewage and water systems, widen and improve streets, improve and upgrade bridges, improve drainage, extend police and fire protection, provide garbage pickup and removal, install street lighting, and provide parks and recreational services.

Sugg said the city did not prove it needs to expand, nor did it provide it could provide safer drinking water or better sewerage system or demonstrate that there was a need for better police and fire protection in the proposed annexation area.

In fact, the judge said there was compelling evidence that the city's overspending began shortly after it successfully annexed the Timber Ridge and Pinepoint Shores Subdivisions in 1986.

Fire claims life of Waveland man

BY RICHARD MEEK
A 90-year-old Waveland man died in an early morning fire on Friday.

Frederick W. Frey of 326 Coleman Ave. in Waveland, died when his house was engulfed in flames, according to Hancock County Fire Marshall Richard Pate. Pate said the fire was reported at 3:29 a.m. and the first of two Waveland units was on the scene at 3:32 a.m.

The fire was brought under control in about 10 minutes by 12 Waveland firemen, he added. Pate said the house was nearly enveloped in flames by the time the fire was answered.

Pate said after an investigation that included Waveland

Bay officials question utility agreement

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Some city officials are questioning Mississippi Power Co.'s push to renew 25-year franchises across the state next month -- a year before they expire.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre told City Council members Monday questions concerning the "urgency" of the franchise renewals have been raised. "All of a sudden, there's a big question," said Favre, of "why the big rush?"

Mississippi Municipal Association officials are sponsoring a meeting on the matter today in Hattiesburg for the 54 cities which are being asked by the power company to hold franchise elections in November.

The existing franchises expire Oct. 4, 1996. In many cases, including Bay St. Louis, the existing agreements award 3 percent franchise fees to municipalities, rather than the 2 percent minimum required fee.

If the franchises are not renewed at the 3 percent rate, cities stand to lose some substantial revenues -- but Mississippi Power could continue to operate under authority of the Public Service Commission.

Power company officials told Bay St. Louis City Council recently that the company would bear all costs of the elections, including poll workers, ballots and advertising.

Despite the atmosphere of uncertainty, Bay St. Louis City Council has set a special meeting for Oct. 10, at 5 p.m., to

Shoreline Park to receive city sewage

BY RICHARD MEEK

Residents in Shoreline Park living in the Waveland city limits will soon be connected to the city's sewage and water systems, thanks to a grant and some local funding.

The city is receiving $450,000 in a Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) grant. The city, said engineer Duke Levy, said the city has two options to pay the matching funds.

The first, he said, is a $350,000 FHA loan, payable in 34 years. Under that option, Levy said the city would put all of the work out to bid.

The second option, he said, is a loan for $250,000, and the city bids out the sewage work, but completes the work for installing the water lines.

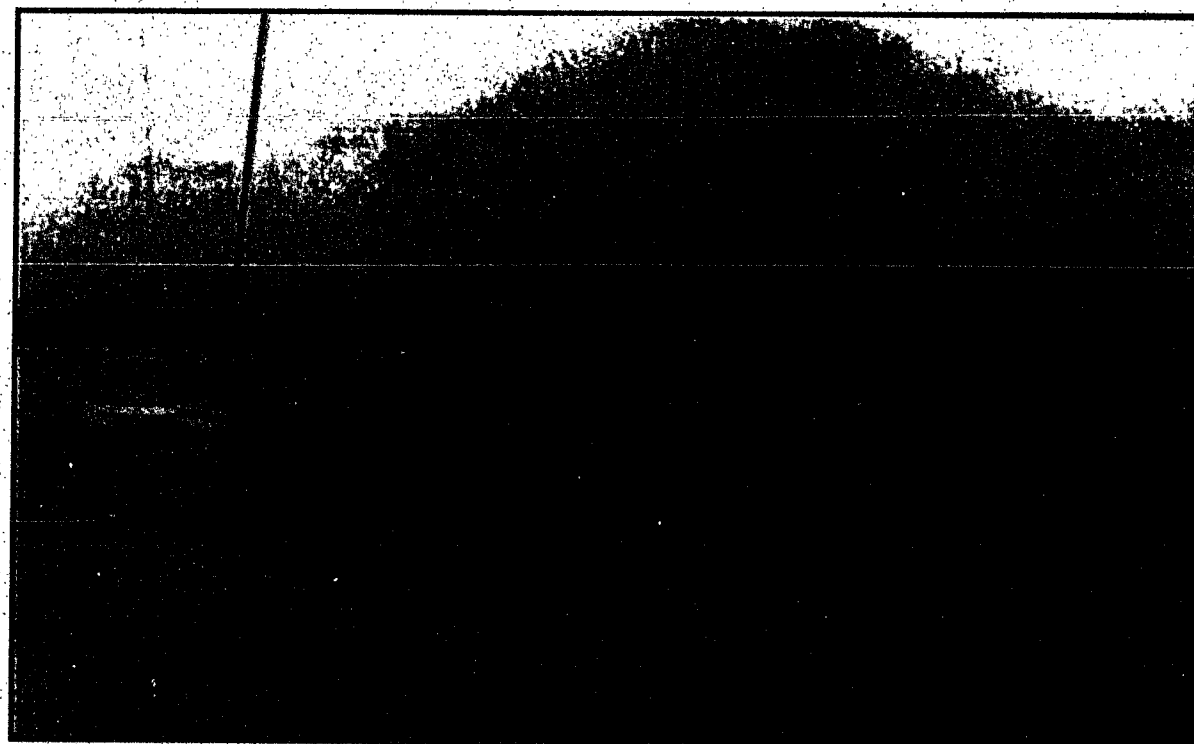

Waveland Public Works Director Steve Landry said he had originally planned for his crews to complete the water lines.

Mayor John Mason said a drawback to using the city crews to install the water systems is that it "ties up our people on one project. Sometimes, we have enough of a problem keeping up with everything around here."

Alderman Al Kingston said the installation of the sewage and water services will cause other developments in the area "to sprout."

No decision has been made as to what option will be most feasible. However, the project cannot begin until an environ-

Opal brushes coast

A toppled boat on the beach is one of the few signs that Hurricane Opal glanced the Gulf Coast. The hurricane, which devastated Navarre Beach in Florida, and other areas inland, left Hancock County relatively unscathed. A few tree limbs were downed, and some residents lost electricity, but for the second time this hurricane season, the area was spared the fury of a dangerous storm. Ham operators seeking members Ham operators in Hancock County are looking for volunteers to join their recently-formed REACT team.

REACT, which stands for Radio Emergency Associated Communications Teams, was formed in the county last May and chartered in July, according to President Brice Phillips. So far, 13 members have joined, but Phillips said more volunteers are needed.

REACT members monitor CB Channel 9, and alert local police or the Highway Patrol in the event someone's in trouble on the highways or even in a boat. REACT teams also maintain emergency communications during times of disaster, like hurricanes.

"We are another communications link," Phillips explained. "A lot of times truckers will use Channel 9 to report a drunk driver. We, in turn, would report this to the highway patrol, so they can be on the lookout."

Truckers also report hazardous driving conditions or accidents that are causing traffic problems on the road, Phillips said.

Last July, Phillips said his young team helped get aid to four people whose boat was sinking about nine miles out in the Gulf. REACT contacted the Coast Guard, who went to the rescue.

If you're interested in joining the county's REACT, you can contact Phillips at 467-1964, or come to REACT's next meeting, scheduled Oct. 11 at the Fenton Community Center in Kiln.

REACT was founded in 1962, and has over 7,000 members and 475 teams around the world. Teams are active in the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico, West Germany, the United Kingdom and Trinidad.

Judge rules in favor of SCI on 603

A Hancock County Circuit Court jury has awarded more than $2.3 million to SCI Inc., in a suit filed over lengthy delays in completing the four-laning of Mississippi 603.

The jury ruled in favor of the contractor and against the Mississippi Transportation Commission. SCI claimed the state highway commission breached its contract and caused additional costs by failing to require utilities to properly mark and relocate lines in the path of the widening project.

The jury awarded SCI $2,370,888.85 Friday after a week-long suit that was interrupted mid-week by the threat of Hurricane Opal.

Work on the $7.9 million project was begun nearly four years ago, and was scheduled to be completed in July of 1994. Now, state highway officials say the 7.1 million widening of the roadway should be completed in a month or two.

SCI filed suit against the commission on Dec. 9, and had asked for over $3 million in damages.

Last August, Circuit Judge John Whitfield, who has been hearing the case, ruled against the state's request to make the utilities share costs in the event SCI won damages.

Judge denies special therapy request by parent

BY RICHARD MEEK

A federal judge denied a motion by the parents of a Bay Middle School student that would have forced the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District to provide sensory integration therapy to their autistic daughter.

Federal Judge David Bramlette on Tuesday in Biloxi denied a motion filed by Edward and GERALYN Richardson, who were seeking the sensory integration training for their daughter Elizabeth. Sensory integration is a form of occupational therapy.

The Richardsons filed their motion based on a ruling in early August by hearing officer David Walker that the district be forced to provide the additional services. However, the district has appealed that ruling in federal court.

Bramlette, who is also hearing the appeal, ruled against the motion because he cannot say there is a "substantial likelihood" the Richardsons will prevail on appeal.

Additionally, since the district was not providing Elizabeth Richardson the services before the hearing or after, Bramlette ruled the district was under no obligation to provide the services during the appeals process.

School district attorneys are contending Walker's findings because he ruled the state satisfied Mississippi's educational requirements promulgated under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) but not those that exist in "maximum benefit states." Mississippi is a "minimum benefit" state.

In his ruling on Tuesday, Bramlette promised to hear the appeal as soon as possible because of the "pressing nature" of the case.

A January hearing date had been originally set, but that is expected to be moved up.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

We were very lucky that Hurricane Opal just skirted the area, while our neighbors in Alabama, Florida and Georgia received the brunt of the hurricane's fury. I could not believe the comment I heard a tourist, who was evacuated from a Coast motel to one in Hattiesburg say. He said he was disappointed he missed the hurricane.

I have news for that dude and any others who may have been disappointed we did not get the brunt of Opal.

Apparently they have never been through a real hurricane.

There are still many residing in Hancock County who remember Hurricane Camille, in which they spent the night not knowing if they would still be around the next morning.

I am glad many took Opal serious and heeded the word and evacuated from the path of the storm.

The scenes I see on television really remind me of what our area looked like after Hurricane Camille.

Many of the residents of the area where the storm's force struck are without homes, or their residences suffered heavy damage.

In recalling the aftermath of Camille, I can remember no electricity for 14 days at the paper's office.

There were some areas where they did not get power for six or eight weeks.

Cooking was a problem, too, as all natural gas systems were down for many weeks after Camille. There was water everywhere, but none in the pipes, as the water systems were out.

We all need to think about those who received damages from Opal, as they will have reminders for a very long time to come.

All of us along the Mississippi Gulf Coast really need to be thankful to God for sparing us once again.

It was good to see how both the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland responded to the cleanup after Opal's brush.

There were some tree limbs about the cities, and this happens every time we have strong winds.

Early Thursday morning the cities had their 'grinders' out to start the task of removing the debris placed on the side of the roads by residents.

One may get debris collected faster by contacting respective city departments.

Mayor John Mason reports Waveland's telephone number is 467-4134; while Sam Dorsey, Bay spokesman, reports the Bay's number is 467-0439.

It takes a little effort NOT to throw our litter out the window and so much effort and expense to pick it up again.

Non-graded classroom allows students to excel

Dear Editor,

I am pleased to say I am a happy parent of two children enrolled in the non-graded multi-age classes at North Bay Elementary. I write because I was astonished at several recent letters criticizing the non-graded multi-age classrooms at this school.

I was thrilled when this program was first implemented three years ago. My eldest child is now in her third year of the program, and her sister has joined the same classroom this year. They are both learning above the expected limits of the curriculum for their grade level.

Their desire to learn is always encouraged and recognized by their teachers. The teachers keep you in close contact with the student's performance with detailed check lists rather than vague alphabetical grades.

These check lists are reviewed after every nine-week session with the parents at a personal conference so they fully understand what their child has accomplished.

This method is called authentic assessment, and I wish that this method could be adopted at all grade levels. The teachers certainly welcome visits to their classrooms so you can view your child's performance and discuss progress. By keeping in close contact with the teachers and practicing skills through homework every day, I feel confident in my choice of this program.

The multi-aged non-graded method of teaching is not new. The one-room school house was the standard by which rural America was educated in the early part of this century. My children's grandparents were educated by this method, and I am sure many in Bay St. Louis have fond memories of their one-room classroom.

Teachers of this school district have been attending conferences in non-graded multi-aged teaching and celebrating the many positive aspects of their methods. It is very similar to the Montessori method.

The children are allowed to work at their own level and gather information and skills to prepare them for the next level. The program encourages the children to make intelligent choices on their own rather than a rigid structure of the traditional class setting.

I do stress that some children can't perform in this program as they lack the ability to stay on task or their social skills to get along with others. Some children may need more structure than others, and a more traditional setting may better serve these children. The Bay-Waveland school district maintains traditional classrooms which are available at North Bay Elementary.

The relaxed atmosphere of learning in the multi-aged program allows children to be more open to sharing their expertise and working with others. Shouldn't school be a fun place to learn?

Being able to sit in a beanbag chair for reading sounds like fun. Our public library included relaxed furnishings for young readers in the new children's wing of their newly renovated library. Don't most people love to curl up on a rainy day with their favorite book in a comfortable chair and not in a stiff-backed chair at a cold table?

I feel sorry for any child who has to endure the rigors of home schooling. Socially they lack the ability to learn about other people and how to get along with them. My husband and I are educated people, but we can only offer a small part of the bigger picture that is out there in the public schools.

We help give our children basic background information, and they really learn to respect their teachers, fellow students and administrators they spend time with each day at school. These are the tools they will need to survive in society today and tomorrow.

I have always been a strong supporter of public education, and I am pleased with the programs available in our school district.

Beach front property owner wants to participate in city's growth

Dear Editor:

I would like to respectfully respond to Mr. James Hemmley's letter of Sept. 28.

Fact: The "ruling" from the Attorney General's Office was actually an "opinion" from the Secretary of State's Office, written by Attorney Margaret Bretz of the Gulfport office as requested by city planner Les Fillingame. The opinion has no legal clout. The issue has not been resolved.

Fact: Having witnessed, up close and personal, the effects of Hurricane Camille, I can attest to the fact that the lack of more beach behind our business endangers no one's property. This area in question is one of the highest in the area, and for the water to get up that high will require the submergence of the sand beach long before threatening anyone's property.

Fact: It is our responsibility

Act provision protects public from hidden toll charges

I was recently asked about reform to correct a loophole in the telecommunications industry in which toll-free 1-800 numbers were being transferred to 1-900, which do carry a toll charge.

It was brought to my attention during a town meeting in Ocean Springs by a man whose child ran up a costly phone bill by dialing 1-800 numbers.

The man said that he has blocked 1-900 calls from being charged to his phone number. However, his child had been able to reach these 1-900 numbers by dialing 1-800 numbers, which then transferred the child to a 1-900 toll number.

Apparently, he was not the only person to be affected by the scams which unknowingly transferred 1-800 callers to a 1-900 number. He asked what could be done congressionally about this problem that allows children to have access to sexually explicit phone messages.

This was possible until Congress' recent passage of H. R. 1555, The Telecommunications Act of 1995, which I wholeheartedly supported.

This bill, which overwhelmingly passed the House on Aug. 4, is directed at promoting competition in the telephone and cable markets while easing regulations on cable prices and broadcast-station ownership.

A 1-800 toll fraud provision was just one of the items included in the Telecommunications Act of 1995 to address this problem for parents who wished to prevent their child from reaching phone sex numbers with a 1-900 prefix. This provision required 1-800 numbers that are not toll free to clearly state its fees.

The bill would also overhaul U.S. Telecommunications policy for the first time since Congress passed the landmark Communications Act of 1934. Although lawmakers have tried repeatedly to rewrite the Communications Act since a federal court ordered the breakup of AT&T in 1982, this year's legislation has progressed further than any other effort.

On June 15, the Senate passed a similar telecommunications bill S.652. Although their details vary slightly, both House and Senate bills are very similar.

As a believer in open competition, I voted for the omnibus telecommunications bill because it would unleash long-suppressed competitors, protect diversity and localism, as well as drive down prices.

The 1-800 provision included in The Telecommunications Act of 1995 is an added bonus for parents who to prevent children in the household from calling phone sex numbers or any other, explicit toll numbers without the parent's permission.

Taylor against abortion advocates on Defense Appropriations Bill

Conservative Democrat and pro-life supporter U.S. Rep. Gene Taylor stood up against abortion advocates by voting against the FY 1996 Defense Appropriation Conference Bill, which would have allowed abortions to be performed in military hospitals.

Taylor said that initially the bill contained an amendment to reverse the pro-abortion section, but unfortunately it was pulled out in the House-Senate Conference Committee.

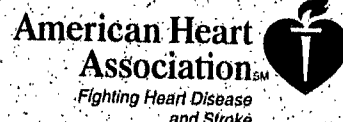

"It is inconceivable that a Republican-controlled Congress would side with pro-abortion groups," said Taylor. Taylor has been working closely with members John Murtha, Bob Livingston, Bob Dornan, Henry Hyde and Ike Skelton to remove the pro-abortion language from the bill.

"These people are personally pro-life and were in a position to make the changes needed in the bill," Taylor said. "It is my sincere hope that they will do so now."

The bill was opposed by the Christian Coalition, National Right to Life Committee, Family Research Council, United States Catholic Conference, Christian Life Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, Concerned Women for America, Eagle Forum, Traditional Values Coalition, and American Life League.

BREWER'S WORLD

By Jimmie Brewer

Two years, four months and seven days ago I loaded up a rented Ryder truck with all my worldly goods, attached an old beat up pickup truck to the rear, and headed for a county and a community I knew absolutely nothing about.

As I passed by the Hancock County signs I wondered what the folks would be like down here. I wondered what the scenery would be like. I wondered what the food would be like.

I wondered what my new job would be like. I wondered what the people in the community did for fun. Most of all I wondered if I was going to find this place to call home or a place I couldn't wait to leave.

Literally within hours after my arrival, I was dancing down the middle of Bourbon Street with the most incredible dudette I ever met. We ate foot-long hotdogs, and were covered in mustard. We laughed until the evening gave way to morning.

Later that week, I was treated to a midnight stroll down a moonlit beach, a bottle of champagne in one hand and Mary in the other. These memories will be forever etched in my mind.

Not long after, I began meeting a group of people who had names I couldn't spell or pronounce like Boudreaux and Bourgeois. Shortly thereafter, I was introduced to Po-boys and crawfish, gumbo and barbecue shrimp, soft-shelled crabs and blackened redfish.

The game of golf was also a new experience for me. I can still recall the look on the faces of the experienced golfers in Diamondhead when I stepped up to the driving range dressed in cutoffs and old tennis shoes, carrying a dusty old bag filled with an assorted group of borrowed clubs.

They watched in awe as I took my first swing at the ball only to have my nine iron slip out of my hands and travel 100 yards down the range. The ball remained motionless still on the tee.

The Country Club has become a regular stomping ground for me. It is a place where folks, who have mastered the art of making people feel welcome. We laugh and sing and dance and sincerely enjoy each others company.

From my very first day here and up until now I wake up each morning, without the aid of an alarm clock, full of anticipation of what the new day will bring. If I have ever had a bad day in Hancock County, I cannot remember it.

And now all of my questions have been answered. I am no longer a Yankee. I no longer call the Midwest my home. Beyond my wildest dreams, this town and this community has far surpassed every expectation I had.

If home is where the heart is, then my heart will forever be grounded in Hancock County.

Praise for do-gooders this week goes out to those folks down here who unconsciously make people feel very welcome. PEACE.

mental impact study is complete. That report is expected in the next few weeks.

City officials said the services will be provided at no charge to some low income families.

Officials also gave approval to take a tougher stance when collecting outstanding public works debts. City Clerk Debbie Convey reported there is approximately $63,500 in arrears, with one business alone owing $13,000.

"That's the city's money,"

Convey said. "The problem is we are not playing hardball."

Landry said the business in question has been keeping current on its recent bills, but has done nothing to satisfy the past debt.

Convey said the city "works with people as best as we can. But some people are still not paying their sewage. What can we do?"

Landry suggested cutting those in arrears have their services cut off. Mason suggested adding the defunct amounts into an individual's property taxes.

The board agreed to give Landry more authority in attempting to collect the debts owed.

In other action, a long-standing dispute over the payment of mileage to Mason caused tempers to flare again between the mayor and Alderman Jay Fleuret. The board recently passed a resolution mandating the mayor would get paid for in town mileage if he notified at least two aldermen before he traveled to his destination. Shortly after, Mason agreed to not accept any payment for local mileage, only for out of town mileage.

The mayor recently turned in an expense report that included over 270 miles in trips between Waveland and Bay St. Louis. During a workshop Monday and a board meeting on Tuesday, Fleuret said Bay St. Louis should be considered local mileage, consequently the mayor should not receive payment.

Fleuret asked the board during the workshop to define local mileage.

"Driving to Bay St. Louis is not out of town," Fleuret said. "There's a certain amount of this job called public servant. It doesn't matter if you're full-time or part-time."

Mason defended his numerous trips to Bay St. Louis, saying he went so often because it is "the county seat."

After a lengthy and much-heated discussion, the board agreed local mileage would only be considered Waveland, and anything outside of the city limits would be designated out of town.

When the debate finally ended with a 3-1 vote that defined the mileage parameters, an obviously upset Alderman Louis Smolensky told the board, "We have other problems to deal with."

The board also: Sharon Jacobi was named Director of Human Resources. Jacobi was previously tax collector for the city but officials recently agreed to turn over those responsibilities to the county tax assessor's office.

Agencies respond to Opal

* President Clinton declared Florida and Alabama major disaster areas shortly after Hurricane Opal made landfall. The declarations made federal disaster resources available to meet immediate emergency needs and direct federal funding to pay 100 percent of the costs for emergency work performed during the first 72 hours of the disaster. Other federal assistance to meet long-term recovery needs is currently being assessed.

* FEMA Director James Lee Witt and a group of top federal officials arrived in Tallahassee to inspect damage and meet with Florida Gov. Lawton Chiles and congressional leaders to review response and recovery operations.

* According to early reports, counties most affected were Santa Rosa, Okaloosa, Walton and Franklin in Florida, and Randolph and Fayette counties in Alabama.

* Florida, Georgia and Alabama have experienced serious power outages over wide areas. Preliminary reports indicate 245,000 customers in Florida are without power. Approximately 250,000 in southwest Georgia and 300,000 in Alabama are likewise without power.

* Pensacola and Panama City airports are closed, as is Eglin AFB in Florida. Some airlines are operating in and out of the Atlanta airport, but others are not. Rail lines are closed in some places, affecting Amtrak routes, among others. No major ports are closed, however.

* Prior to the disaster declaration, FEMA tasked the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to provide 100,000 gallons of bottled water for each of the following states: Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Mississippi. The Corps has also been given a mission assignment to clear storm debris in the Florida Panhandle.

Blue Devils blast Rocks 56-12

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
The night belonged to the Pearl River Central Blue Devils as they defeated St. Stanislaus 56-12.

The Blue Devils racked up 529 total yards, 479 of which were on the ground.

Coach Mario Genna stated, "We got an old-fashioned butt-whipping. They jumped on us early and didn't let up."

"Early on, we showed that we don't have it quite yet on the offensive front. We try to finesse the ball down the field and PRC limited us to what we could do."

"Some of our kids got banged up early and we had nobody to throw to later on. Plus, some of our receivers were running the wrong routes. PRC worked on our defensive front, especially our defensive tackles. They just lined up and blew us completely off the line."

Genna continued, "We saw some good things on offense with Corey Gex throwing two TD passes and Brad Cannon having a good night receiving. We did not see much good on the defensive side."

Gex was 10 for 25 for 147 yards, two TD's, and three INT's. Cannon had six receptions for 117 yards. Trahan rushed for 139 yards and two TD's while throwing 4 for 9 for 47 yards and two TD's.

The highlight of the night for Stanislaus was mid-fourth quarter when they scored two quick TD's via passes.

The Blue Devils set the tone early, forcing the Rocks to punt after only three plays. With good field position, senior PRC QB Ty Trahan hit Neudeck for an 18-yard scoring strike with 7:23 left in the first quarter. The two point conversion was good, and the score was 8-0.

Four minutes later, Trahan dropped back and hit Damon Walker with a 22-yard TD pass. With the PAT, the score was 15-0 with 3:18 left in the first quarter.

In the second quarter, Walker scored from three yards out. The PAT attempt failed; the score was 21-0 with 5:14 left in the half.

The Rocks put together another sustained drive before the half ended, but failed to score before the horn.

The Blue Devils didn't take long to score in the second half. Trahan slashed his way through the Rock defense for a 39-yard TD run at the 8:17 mark of the third quarter. The PAT was good, making the score 28-0.

After the Rocks fumbled the ball away on their second play, Trahan bulled his way for 23-yard TD run. With the PAT, the score was 35-0 with 5:50 left in the quarter.

The next PRC score came on a 19-yard run by Walker. The two-point conversion failed, leaving the score at 41-0 with 3:05 to go in the third quarter. With 11:46 left in the game, PRC struck again. Shoemaker took a reverse 73 yards for the TD, and the PAT kick made the score 48-0.

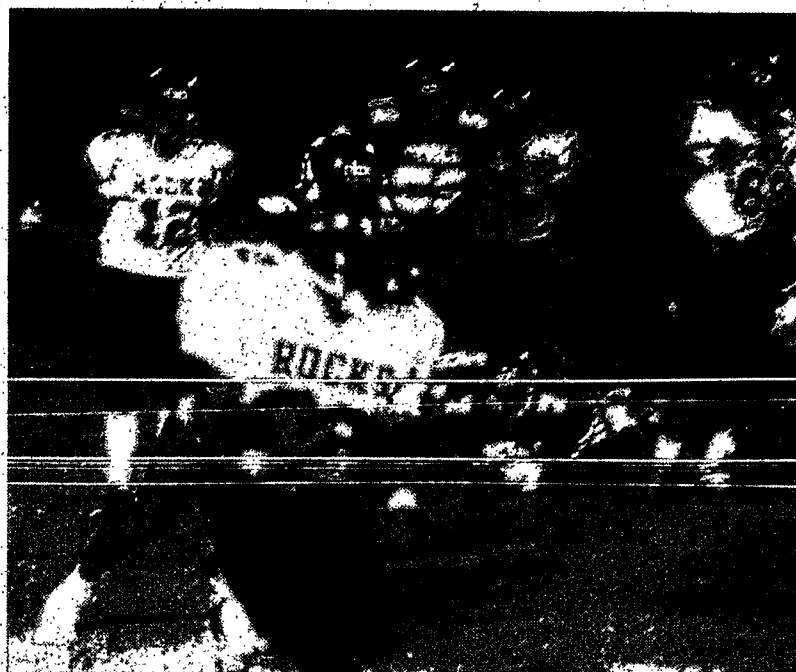

Finally, St. Stanislaus scored. Gex hit a wide-open Cannon for a 40-yard TD strike at the 8:10 mark. The failed two-point conversion attempt left the score at 48-6.

After the Blue Devils fumbled to the Rocks on their first play from scrimmage, Gex dropped back and hit Cannon for a 50-yard TD strike. Another failed two-point attempt made the score 48-12 with 7:14 left in the game.

PRC's final touchdown came two minutes later, as Graves scored from two yards out. The two point conversion made the score 56-12.

Commenting on next Friday's action, Genna said, "We have Oak Grove this week and they will be tough. The Warriors have two boys that used to play for us, Gathian and Joe Fertitta. They are good football players and will be ready to play against us, and I think our boys will be ready to play against them."

"However, they are not the only weapons that they have. Plus, we have tests this week which could limit us in practice."

Sweep

This game will be a good challenge for us so we can see how we bounce back after this loss. What the kids need is some support from the SSC family and community."

The Rocks will entertain the Oak Grove Warriors in a district matchup at 7:30 p.m. The Rocks, now 3-4, 0-2, will be looking for their first district win in over three years.

Hornets swarm over Pirates 28-0

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Pass Christian High School Pirates suffered another disappointing loss Friday night, in a 28-0 shutout against the Poplarville Hornets.

The contest was the Pirates' second home game and the third district game. Pass Christian is now 0-7, 0-3 for the season.

The Hornets shut down the Pirates offensively, and stifled their defense in the first half. Poplarville outdistanced Pass Christian both on the ground and in the air, netting 244 yards rushing to Pass Christian's 3, and 27 yards passing to the Pirates' 23.

Pirate athletic director Lonnie Tillman said, "We just gotta keep fighting. It's hard to maintain when you've got five freshmen and three sophomores starting, but we can make it. We just have to get with it."

Steve Malley, one of the chain men for the Pirates' home games, commented, "I think the kids played a heck of a game. They hung tough, and really did a good job, especially in the second half."

The Hornet offense overwhelmed the Pirate defense in the first quarter, scoring 21 points on runs by Zennis Wood, Eddie Schommer and Teddy Poole.

Wood put the first TD on the board with a 75-yard return of the Pirates' opening kick. Heath Smith's PAT kick was good, as were his other three on the night. With only 14 ticks of the clock, it was 7-0.

Schommer was next to score, some 4 1/2 minutes later. He zipped up the middle untouched for a four-yard TD run. At 7:17 left in the first quarter, it was 14-0.

It took another four minutes for the Hornets to strike again, on an 11-yard keeper run by quarterback Poole. With 3:06 to go, the score stood at 21-0.

The Pirates held the Hornets to that score until three minutes into the second quarter, when Poole connected with Wood for a 27-yard TD pass reception. With 9:17 left in the half, it was 28-0.

That is where it stayed for the rest of the night. The Pirate defense tightened up and allowed no more scoring, although the Hornets almost had another score at the 0:51 mark. An illegal blocking penalty at midfield recalled the touchdown.

The Pirates travel to Forrest County Friday to play their fourth District 8 3-A game. Kickoff is 7:30 p.m.

Hawks trim Oak Grove 29-20

BY ED LEPOMA

Hancock High's rushing game came to life Friday night as the Hawks visited Oak Grove, and defeated the Warriors 29-20 in a Division 7-4A contest.

Junior Quarterback Chad Peterson scored the winning touchdown for the Hawks on a two-yard run with a minute left to play, but it was the strong rushing offense all night that put the Hawks in command.

Junior halfback Darrell Williams led the Hawks rushing with 115 total yards, and Junior fullback Jimmy Jones racked up 74 yards rushing, including two touchdowns.

The Warriors looked like they were going to bring it to the Hawks defense when Trey Light returned the opening kickoff 86 yards for a touchdown. The point after was good, and the Warriors led 7-0.

Peterson answered engineering the Hawks down to the six-yard line when Williams went over for the touchdown. The PAT after failed, and the Hawks trailed 7-6.

In the second quarter, Jones went over from the one-yard line, and Peterson went in for two to make the score 14-7 at the half.

The Warriors opened up the third quarter by scoring again on an 11-yard run by Robert Gillespie. The good PAT made it 14-14.

Strong rushing by Williams and Jones again got the Hawks down to the Warriors one-yard line, with Jones plowing it through for the score. Again, Peterson ran for two and the score was 22-14 near the end of the third quarter.

The Warriors would score again on another six-yard run by Gillespie, but they missed the point after, and the score was 22-20 at the top of the fourth quarter.

With about a minute to go, Peterson and strong running again got the Hawks in scoring position, and Peterson went over from the two to seal the victory. Chris Green kicked the point after to make the final score 29-20.

Hawks Coach Rocky Gaudin credited the running of Williams and Jones, and his offensive line for putting the team in control of the game.

"Our rushing has improved considerably over the last two games, and I think we're going to be at full steam as we near the end of the season," said Gaudin. "They all just need to stay healthy."

The win put the Hawks at 4-3 for the season and 2-1 in the Division. Next week, Hancock High entertains division foe Petal at Hawks Stadium in Kiln.

Petal tames Tigers 46-8

BY RICHARD MEEK

The end came shortly after the start, but unfortunately for the Bay High Tigers, they had to stick around while Petal authored a homecoming fairytale.

The Panthers entertained their homecoming crowd by scoring early and often in a 46-8 drubbing of the Tigers. Petal jumped out to a 21-0 first quarter lead and led 27-0 at the half. The Panthers, 3-3 overall, 1-1 in District 7-4A, scored on seven of their first nine possessions, including four straight at one point.

"It was over so fast," Bay High coach Walt Esslinger said. "It just got out of hand early. I can't explain it."

The Tigers, 3-3, 1-1, were overwhelmed in all categories. Petal ran up 412 yards in total offense, 378 on the ground.

Gary Reed led Petal with 170 yards on only seven carries. Included in his total were scoring runs of one and 92 yards.

Michael Shelby had 88 yards on four carries, Jerid Henslerling 72 yards, also on four carries.

"(Petal) did not run anything we had not seen before or had not stopped before," Esslinger said. "We were not confused, we just did not do a good job of tackling and they executed better."

Bay High was held to 216 yards, with 59 coming on a fourth quarter scoring drive long after the outcome was decided. Wali Shabazz picked up 82 yards, but needed 23 carries to do it. Shabazz split time at quarterback with Jonathan Favre but misfired on both of his pass attempts.

Favre completed four of nine attempts for 60 yards.

"We used (Shabazz) at quarterback to give Petal the option to think about," Esslinger said. "It's something we have been working on. We will use (Shabazz) again in the future at quarterback."

A pre-game fireworks display provided all of the spark the Panthers would need. Petal drove 80 yards in five plays on its first possession with Reed scoring from one yard out. A Shane Tapper to Chris Marshall two-point pass gave the Panthers an 8-0 lead with 10:01 left in the first quarter. The key plays were Reed's 34-yard run on the first play of the game that carried to the Tiger 46-yard line and Henslerling's 33-yard run that carried to the one.

Following a Bay High fumble, Petal drove 31 yards in five plays, with the score coming on Tapper's one-yard run. John Marsh's PAT gave Petal a 15-0 lead with 6:39 remaining in the quarter.

Petal defensive lineman

Jason Camp intercepted a Favre screen pass on the Tigers' next possession and rumbled 48 yards to give the Tigers a 21-0 lead with 1:18 still remaining in the opening period. The Panthers were forced to attempt a two-point conversion from the 18-yard line, after the first of two taunting penalties was called on Petal. It failed.

"We took ourselves out of it immediately with turnovers," Esslinger said. "We gave them a lot."

Reed's 92-yard run with 5:13 left in the second quarter gave the Panthers a 27-0 lead and was the first of four consecutive scoring possessions. Petal needed only seven plays to march 75 yards on its first possession of the second half. The payoff came on Burch's four-yard run and gave the Panthers a 34-0 lead.

On its next possession, Petal drove 58 yards in six plays, culminated by Burch's two-yard run.

Petal increased the lead to 46-0 with 11:48 remaining when Shelby scored on a 14-yard run to cap a 49-yard drive that took only three plays. Shelby began the drive with a 42-yard run that carried to the seven, but a Petal fumble pushed the Panthers back to the 14.

Shabazz scored at the 6:11 mark of the fourth quarter on a four-yard run.

"We need to go back and work on the things that hurt us so much," Esslinger said. "There's no use dwelling on this."

"We have to look for some good spots."

The Tigers play host to Picayune on Friday.

Chiropractic Found More Effective than Hospital Care in 3-Year British Study

Beneficial effect of chiropractic on pain particularly clear...

The outcome of a medical research council trial at the Medical College of St. Bartholomew's Hospital in London, England, comparing chiropractic with conventional hospital treatment for low back pain, reported that those patients treated by chiropractic "derived more benefit and long term satisfaction than those treated by hospitals."

The results of the study, "Randomized comparison of chiropractic and hospital out patient management for low back pain: results from extended follow-up", were published in the August 4, 1995 British Medical Journal.

Professor Thomas Meade and colleagues at the Epidemiology and Medical Care Unit, using the Oswestry questionnaire, compared the progress of 741 low back pain patients (undergoing either chiropractic or hospital treatment) for levels of pain, daily activity, and satisfaction with their treatment. The number revealed that during three years, 29 percent more improved under chiropractic care than those treated by hospital care. "The beneficial effect of chiropractic on pain was particularly clear," the author stated.

Chiropractic patients also expressed greater general satisfaction with their treatment, slept better and were able to sit for longer periods. The study further found that, in general, chiropractic patients experienced an improved quality of life following treatment.

This study is a follow-up of the 1990 Medical et al. study. At the time of the 1990 report, not all the 741 patients (18-64) had been in trial for more than six months. The 1995 three-year follow-up study presents the full results for all those patients for which data was available.

"The medical research council trial shows that patients with back pain can expect better results from their local chiropractor than from this local hospital," says Ian Hutchinson, president of the British Chiropractic Association. "Fortunately, the value of chiropractic is being increasingly recognized and I hope that following the trial results, NHS (National Health Service) purchasers and chiropractors can now arrange for more patients to benefit from chiropractic treatments," he said.

The scores of the new study on pain intensity before treatment and the various follow-up periods show significant improvements in pain "in those treated by chiropractic, including the changes early on... that is, at six months, when the proportions returning questionnaires were high."

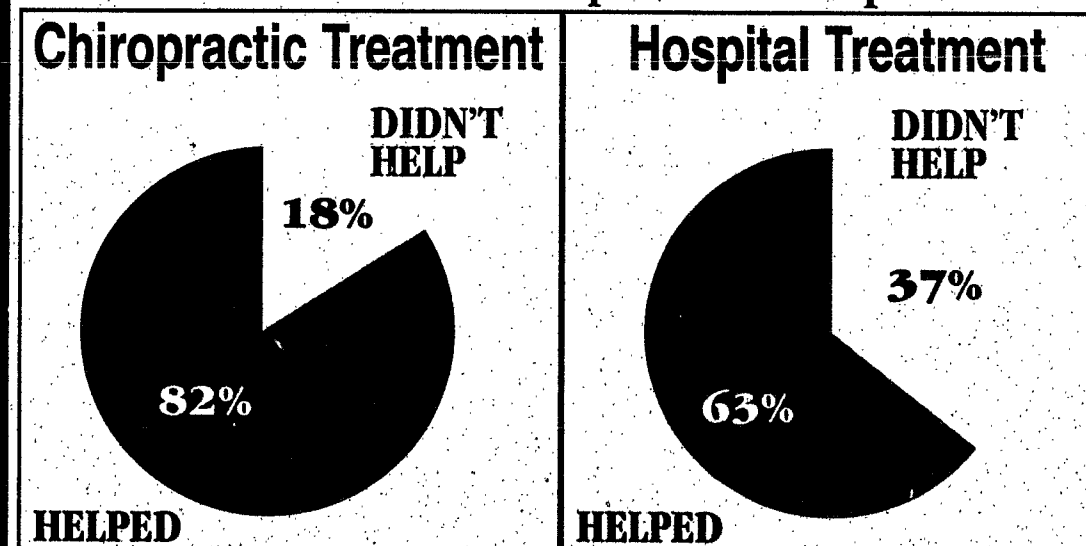

The authors noted that the other scores (personal care, lifting, walking, standing, sex life and traveling) "nearly all improved more in the patients treated with chiropractic, though most of the differences were small compared with the differences for pain."

The authors said they believed there is now more support for the need for "fastidious" trials focusing on "specific components of management and on the feasibility," and that trial's results show that chiropractic has a valuable part to play in the management of low back pain.

The study comes close on the heels of the recommendations of the British back pain guidelines developed by the Clinical Standards Advisory Group, published as Back Pain and Epidemiology and Cost of Back Pain. Those guidelines recommend that patients should not be put on waiting lists for hospital appointments, as that leads to increased time off work and disability. The British guidelines say that back patients should be seen earlier in the community by chiropractors, osteopaths and physiotherapists skilled in manipulation.

After three years, the percentage of patients who felt their treatment had helped their back pain:

Hancock Bank sponsors women's financial seminar

Hancock Bank will sponsor a financial seminar for women at the Isle of Capri Crowne Plaza Resort October 10. The seminar will be held in the Flamingo Bay Ballroom, 8 a.m.-12:30 p.m., beginning with a continental breakfast and registration.

This no-fee seminar is designed to educate women in each stage of their lives and will be highlighted by keynote speaker Alexandra Harris, publisher and editor of "Winning Strategies," a financial journal for women, and founder and president of the Women's Investment Network. Harris will aim her presentation toward the power-of financial security and economic independence.

Four concurrent breakout sessions will address wills and trusts (Zoe Hicks, Atlanta); avoiding the seven worst mistakes women make (Ann Peterson, Atlanta); women owned businesses (Dr. Sharon Hadary, Silver Springs, Md.); and investing (Diane Carney, Baton Rouge). Each will address topics in each of their areas of expertise, after which the floor will be opened to the audience for questions and answers.

Speakers will address such topics as the characteristics of successful women business owners and what you can do to make yourself more successful; taking a financial inventory; and a brief discussion on divorce/widow checklists. Answers will be given to such questions as: When should I prepay debt? How much of my income should I save for retirement? How can I protect myself if a divorce seems imminent? When widowed, what must be done immediately and what should wait?

Seating is limited, so early registration is necessary. For more information, or to register, call Hancock Bank at 871-6016.

Name change is major feat for South Central Bell employees

South Central Bell's 3,396 employees in Mississippi are busily working to change the company's brand name to BellSouth, which is no small task with such a visible name.

For example, BellSouth has 1,266 vans, trucks, and other vehicles in Mississippi, the vast majority of which bear the company logo.

The company also has 15,755 pay phone enclosures in the state that need to be converted. And it sends monthly bills to about 954,800 Mississippi customers.

Also, there are about a million South Central Bell Calling Cards in service in Mississippi and 50 different SCB telephone directories with a distribution of more than one million copies in the state.

"That's not to mention about 200 buildings that will need to reflect our new brand name," said J. Kelly Allgood, president of the company's Mississippi operations. "This is obviously doesn't happen overnight, but we are working diligently to make our new BellSouth brand visible."

The company's legal name if BellSouth Telecommunications and has been since 1992. At that time, Southern Bell and South Central Bell, which were both subsidiaries of BellSouth Corporation, merged into one nine-state company but continued to use Southern Bell and South Central Bell as brand names when dealing with customers.

The company is now changing to the BellSouth brand as part of its response to a constantly changing, increasingly competitive marketplace.

"The various Bell-South com-

panies can and will provide a full range of telecommunications services," Allgood said.

"By using the BellSouth brand, we're giving our customers one name they can trust for all their communications needs."

Allgood emphasized that while the company was changing its brand, there would be no change in BellSouth's commitment to the customer.

"Our focus on the customer will be even more critical as competition increases," he said. "We'll continue to provide top-notch service, we'll continue to build and maintain a state-of-the-art network, and we'll continue to help customers find communications solutions that fit their needs."

BellSouth Telecommunications, Inc., headquartered in Atlanta, provides telecommunications services in the nine-state BellSouth region, which encompasses Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

New drive-through ATM to open in Pearlington

Bank customers in Pearlington are now enjoying Hancock Bank's new drive-through Handy24 ATM, located approximately 100 yards south of Cuevas Store at the corner of Hwy. 604 and Monroe Street.

As of October 1, customers and non-customers have 24-hour access to savings, checking, Mastercard, VISA, Discover and American Express accounts.

A ribbon cutting ceremony for the new location of the Pearlington ATM will be held Wednesday, Oct. 11 at 9 a.m. Rosalie Burks, the previous owner of the property, will be a special guest in attendance.

"Hancock is proud of its long relationship with the residents of Pearlington. With increased sawmill activity at Pearlington, Logtown and Favreport, the bank moved out to open its first branch at Pearlington Jan. 8, 1992, in the office building of Dr. J. Q. Fountain, located on a plot of ground where the Pearlington Post Office is now located," said Leo Seal Jr., chairman of the board and CEO.

Hancock Bank's ATM system, which is part of the Plus, Cirrus, GulfNet and Pulse networks, serves the Mississippi Gulf Coast from Gautier to Waveland and north to Poplarville. In addition to withdrawals, users may also transfer funds between accounts, obtain account balances, plus many other special transactions.

ERA Real Estate brokers market homes internationally

These days, when people transfer to new jobs within a corporation, they are nearly as likely to relocate overseas as across the street. Relocation experts predict by the year 2000 over one-third of all corporate transfers will be international.

To meet this growing demand, brokers affiliated with ERA Real Estate market homes in 13 countries throughout ERA Global Exclusive magazine. The four-color magazine, featuring upscale properties around the world, is published quarterly and distributed in the United States, Japan, Singapore, Guam, Taiwan, Indonesia, Thailand, France, South Africa, Netherlands, the Philippines, Belgium and most recently Korea.

"As more businesses expand overseas, there is a growing need for global real estate information," said Herb Dubuisson, president of ERA Bayshore Realty. "Global Exclusives magazine is an effective way for clients to market their homes, or if relocating, to see what's available in different countries."

ERA Bayshore Realty, located at 640 Hwy. 90, Waveland, has 22 sales associates serving the relocation and real estate needs of home buyers and sellers throughout the Gulf Coast. The company is affiliated with the international ERA Real Estate system with over 2,500 offices worldwide. Each office is independently owned and operated.

Schwegmann's grocery store opens tomorrow in Waveland

Schwegmann Giant Super Markets of New Orleans announces the grand opening of the National Super Market, 715 Hwy. 90, Waveland on Monday, Oct. 9, now under Schwegmann management.

CEO John F. Schwegmann, President Sam Levy, Store Director Richard Welch and Mayor John Mason will participate in a ribbon cutting ceremony scheduled at 8 a.m.

"Many of our citizens and summer visitors are from the New Orleans area and are used to 'makin' groceries' at Schwegmann. Now they'll feel right at home in Waveland," remarked Mayor Mason. "We always welcome more jobs to help our local economy."

Recently acquired as part of Schwegmann's purchase of the National Tea Co. Southern Division assets, the Waveland location is the company's second venture outside the boundaries of Louisiana. The store employs some 70 staff members and offers a large selection of grocery products, fresh perishables, general merchandise and health and beauty aids.

Schwegmann private label products have been added to the inventory, and plans include changing the name of the store to Schwegmann.

In addition to store director Richard Welch, the management team includes assistant directors Kenny Fayard and Corey Herzog, meat market manager Jim Henderson, scanning supervisor Vanessa Lewis, front line/cashier supervisor Beth Gotze, deli supervisor Tracy Fuller, vault room supervisor Kathy Kulikowski and produce supervisor Johnny Chiasson.

"The Schwegmann Company is pleased and proud to bring our 126 year tradition of quality products and service at the best possible price to the consumers of Waveland," said CEO John F. Schwegmann. "We have received an enthusiastic welcome and we are anxious to provide customers with a great grocery shopping experience."

According to Sam Levy, president, Schwegmann expects to realize economies of scale as a result of the acquisition which will benefit customers through very competitive pricing at the Waveland Schwegmann store.

Since taking possession of the National Tea Co. stores, Schwegmann has reopened 16 locations in Greater New Orleans, The Real Superstore in Baton Rouge and Lafayette, a Canal Villere in Mobile and converted that Stanley! stores in Abbeville, Port Allen, Houma and Thibodaux. The remaining stores in Gonzales, LaPlace, Lockport and Houma will open at a rate of one per week as currently scheduled.

The G.A. Schwegmann Grocery company opened for business in 1869, in a family owned, corner grocery market at Piety and Burgundy streets in New Orleans' 9th Ward. In 1939, John W. Schwegmann acquired the store from his brother, introduced self-service and began the tradition of quality products at everyday low prices. With the opening of the Schwegmann Brothers Giant Super Market on St. Claude Ave. at Elysian Fields in 1946,

Financial Focus

Mutual funds are not for trading

Mutual funds are typically long-term investments. This means if you don't plan to invest your money for at least five years, you should possibly look at other, shorter-term alternatives.

Long-term investing is the philosophy that built mutual funds into the mammoth industry that it is today. In fact, according to recent figures released by the Investment Company Institute, the Washington, D.C.-based voice of the mutual fund industry, retirement plans account for about $637 billion of mutual fund investments, or about 30 percent of all money invested in mutual funds.

In addition, 50 percent of new mutual fund investments in 1993 were placed in various pension and individual retirement accounts. Saving for retirement is a serious, long-term commitment, and the sheer volume of retirement plans that invest in mutual funds is a testament to their long-term nature.

Mutual funds never were intended as "trading" vehicles. Yet today, as staggering numbers of new funds are offered regularly, more and more brokers, advisers, newsletters and others are urging investors to start trading.

The idea of trading mutual funds is not new; it generally surfaces after prolonged bull markets. The latest breed of mutual fund "traders" would like you to believe that the traditional buy-and-hold strategy (a strategy that has worked successfully since the 1930s, by the way) will not work in the 1990s.

For example, a recent advertisement for a mutual fund "timing system" promised "a virtually guaranteed way to identify market peaks... and absolutely safeguard your mutual fund investment." Sure, it's easy to look back at a fund's historical performance and show the tremendous results you would have achieved if you had been lucky enough to consistently buy low and sell high.

But the fact is that no one can realistically guarantee profits in any mutual fund. The safest way to select mutual funds is to look at those that meet your objectives and risk tolerance. Before you buy, study the historical performance of the funds through good and bad markets—the longer the history, the better—but keep in mind that past performance does not guarantee future results.

The key is consistency, and your challenge is to have the patience to let the fund's managers work for you. This discipline will greatly enhance your chances for profit and the safety of your investment.

Mutual funds are not an appropriate parking place for overnight investors. Those who try to make funds fit that mold usually find the frustration of trying to force a square peg into a round hole.

The Judge noted the city did not acquire the Pinepoint Shores Utility District until June of 1993, approximately seven and one-half years after it annexed that territory, and it hasn't quite completed installing water mains.

"There was no excuse for the city to delay acquisition of the public utility in this area for seven and a half years," Sugg said. He said Pass Christian did provide police and fire protection to the area in a timely manner, "but failed miserably in furnishing capital improvements following the 1986 annexation."

Sugg saved his most searing criticism on the city's past and present "irresponsible spending," which he said dated back to 1991.

"During the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, 1992 and ending Sept. 30, 1993, the city spent $1,232,863 more than its budget...far in excess of the 110 percent permitted by statute," Sugg said. The records showed the Administration and Pass Christian Aldermen budgeted $3,393,407, but actually expended $5,163,270.

"This overspending was probably brought about by the fact that the city adopted the present annexation ordinance in July, 1992, and realized that it had not complied with its promises contained in its 1985 annexation ordinance," Sugg said.

As a result, he added, "The city embarked on an extensive program of street improvement and sewer and water installation, which resulted in overspending the budget in violation of the budgetary statutes of the state. Every category in the budget was over spent," Sugg said.

The judge noted that the state auditor in 1993 informed the Mayor and Aldermen that "the city's cash balance was dangerously low, that they were making uninformed decisions relative to conducting the financial affairs of the city, that the city had failed to properly account for fixed assets, that a number of funds had deficit balances, and the city had no long-term strategic plan."

Sugg said, as of this date, "the city has not restored its cash balances to a safe level. It has not properly inventoried its fixed assets," and it has not yet adopted a six-year plan for budgeting.

The judge said the state auditor is now monitoring Pass Christian's spending on a quarterly basis, and a 1994 audit report showed "expenditures exceeded the budget by $708,565 and expenditures exceeded revenues by $726,066."

Sugg said city auditors Moore and Powell pointed out in an August 1995 letter that estimates of a $120,000 surplus for the coming year were in error, but with a dedicated effort, a $25,000 to $40,000 surplus might be achievable.

Sugg said the letter referred to unexpected costs incurred during the early part of the fiscal year.

"The unexpected costs were bills that simply were hidden and unknown to the city showing that it needs to have some encumbrance procedure in place," Sugg charged. He said two city aldermen who testified agreed with auditors, but "to date, it (the city) has not adopted an encumbrance procedure."

Sugg also noted from 1991 to date, Harrison County has contributed over $496,000 to the city in cash and services "and the city has depended heavily on the county for help in maintaining its streets."

He said street maintenance in the proposed annexation area was being adequately furnished by the county.

"The city is unable to render adequate municipal services to its own citizens without help from Harrison County," Sugg said.

"It should solve its own problems before trying to take on responsibility for furnishing municipal services in an added area."

Attorney Virgil Gillepsie argued the case against annexation for the citizens of Pass Christian and Henderson Point. Howard Keating represented the city of Pass Christian.

The trial lasted almost two weeks, and Judge Sugg ordered all costs of court to be paid by the city.

enact the proposed franchise ordinance and set the election.

Mayor Eddie Favre said he and other local city officials would attend today's Municipal Association meeting, and brief council at the Tuesday meeting.

Power company officials had contended that next month's general election would be the only viable time to hold the franchise election, since the franchise would expire before November 1996. Although there will be a March 1996 presidential primary locally, some say that primary won't draw huge crowds to the polls.

There is concern over the fact that city and county precincts are different: voters will have to go to two polling places to participate in the countywide general election and the city franchise election.

Other questions have been raised concerning why the cities should give Mississippi Power a 25-year franchise, when no time frame is spelled out in pertinent state law. Some say with utility deregulation probable at the federal level, cities may regret locking themselves into a structured franchise for more than two decades.

Cities are being asked, in the franchise documents, to agree that they will not establish power operations in competition with Mississippi Power.

Fire

Fire Marshall David Garcia and the state fire marshal, the fire was ruled accidental. He said the fire began near a space heater that Frey was using.

Frey's wife, daughter and son-in-law were in a house on the front of the property, Pate said. According to Pate, Frey's wife was an invalid and lived in her daughter's house.

He said the house is a total loss.

Budget

However, on Oct. 1, the first day of the new fiscal year, the city showed a cash balance of $839,055. The city is projecting a cash balance of $247,460 by Sept. 30, 1996.

Part of the revenue includes transferring in $867,145 from the Utilities Department. Nearly $1 million was transferred in for the 94-95 fiscal year.

In General Fund, the city is projecting a deficit of nearly $64,000, based on expenses of $3,259,626.

The city is planning on spending over $1.7 million in Public Safety and $742,066 in Public Works.

WEDDINGS, ENGAGEMENTS

Ladner-Necaise

Mr. and Mrs. Bernie J. Ladner of Perkinston announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Penny M. Ladner, to Trent K. Necaise.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly B. Necaise of Picayune.

The bride-elect is a 1991 graduate of Hancock High School. She is employed by Northshore Regional Medical Center.

The prospective bridegroom is a 1992 graduate of Hancock High School. He is employed by B.D. Stevenson Construction.

The ceremony will be at 1 p.m. October 21 at Annunciation Catholic Church in Kiln. A reception will follow at the church.

Family and friends are invited to attend the ceremony and reception.

Macher-Favre

Dana Leigh Favre of Chicago, Ill., and Jeffery Thomas Macher, of Boston, Mass. were married September 2 at an evening ceremony at First Baptist Church in Bay St. Louis.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Sam L. Favre Jr. of Bay St. Louis.

The groom is a son of Frank E. Macher of Ann Arbor, Mich. and Mrs. Kathleen M. Blank of Ypsilanti, Mich.

Dr. Nathan L. Barber officiated. Soloist was Dr. Frederick Pitts, and pianist was Gail Carr.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, David Stefano, chose for her wedding a formal gown of pure silk in diamond white. The gown featured a fitted basque bodice overlaid with pearly and sequined French Alencon lace. The scalloped portrait neckline was enhanced with short fitted sleeves also edged with scalloped lace. A lace-decorated bow marked the back waist above a full skirt with chapel-length sweep train. She wore a bandeau-type headpiece of matching silk with hand-rolled silk roses and finger-tip veil of illusion. She carried a clutch bouquet of bridal white open roses.

The attendants were attired in floor-length gowns of softly flowing crepe in an ocean mist color, featuring a banded scoop neckline with draped bow at the back. The princess-style gown flowed to a tulip flare at the hemline.

The flower girl was attired in an ankle-length gown of white organdy sashed at the waist with satin ribbon. The large collar featured floral embroidery and was edged with satin piping. Matron of honor was Christy Whithers, sister of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Caroline Colquette, Ellie Halevy, Cathy Dishner, Gina Earles and Ginger Swift.

Flower girl was Jordyn Stefano, niece of the bride.

Best man was Sameer Dasai, and ushers were Julian Monterosso, Glen Graesley, Eric Berg-wall, Jeff Dishner and Trent Favre.

A reception was hosted at the Great Southern Club in Gulfport.

Rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Macher at the home of Patricia Favre.

There was a wedding day luncheon given by Bet Delcuze and Mary Ellen Hanson.

There were miscellaneous showers hosted at First Baptist Church and at the home of Robin Morel.

The couple will reside in Berkeley, Calif.

Glenn Miller Orchestra swings into Biloxi

"The hardest thing in the world is to start an orchestra — and the next hardest, to stop it."

That bit of wisdom was uttered by Hans Richter more than a century ago, but he might very well have been speaking about the Glenn Miller Orchestra, which appears at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum in Biloxi October 18.

The first Glenn Miller Orchestra didn't make it at all. It was a total and absolute economic failure. But Miller knew what he wanted, held to that dedication and relentlessly worked to succeed. He launched his second band — the one that lives on today — in March of 1938. It's been a "hit" ever since.

The legendary Glenn Miller was one of the most successful of all the dance bandleaders back in the Swing era of the 1930s and '40s. A matchless string of hit records, the constant impact of radio broadcasts and the drawing power at theatres, hotels and dance pavilions built and sustained the momentum of popularity.

Miller disbanded his musical organization in 1942, at the height of its popularity, volunteered for the Army, and then organized and led the famous Glenn Miller Army Air Force Band.

It went to Europe to entertain servicemen, and then, on December 15, 1944, Major Miller took off in a single-engine plane from England to precede his band to France. He was never seen again. The Army declared him officially dead a year later.

Because of popular demand, the Miller Estate authorized the formation of the present Glenn Miller Orchestra in 1956 under the direction of drummer Ray McKinley, who had become the unofficial leader of the Army Air Force Band after Miller's disappearance. Since then, other leaders have followed McKinley, including clarinetists Buddy DeFranco and Peanuts Hucko; tenor saxophonist Dick Gerhart; trombonists Buddy Morrow, Jimmy Henderson and Larry O'Brien, the current leader.

The 19-member band continues to play many of the original Miller arrangements that keep exciting fans who have not heard them played for a while.

Additionally, they play more modern selections in the big-band style, carefully selecting only those newer pieces that lend themselves naturally to the Miller style and sound, pieces that will stay around for a while.

The entire repertoire, which now exceeds 1,700 compositions, keeps the band in the world just as it was in Miller's day.

The October 18 event is a concert and dance from 7 to 10:30 p.m.

Tickets are $18 each at tables surrounding the dance floor. General admission tickets are $14 each for the permanent seats surrounding the arena floor. The dance floor is open to ticket holders in both general admission and table seating.

Tickets are available at the Coast Coliseum box office or from all TicketMaster locations. Call 1-800-488-5252 to charge tickets to credit cards.

McGraw to perform

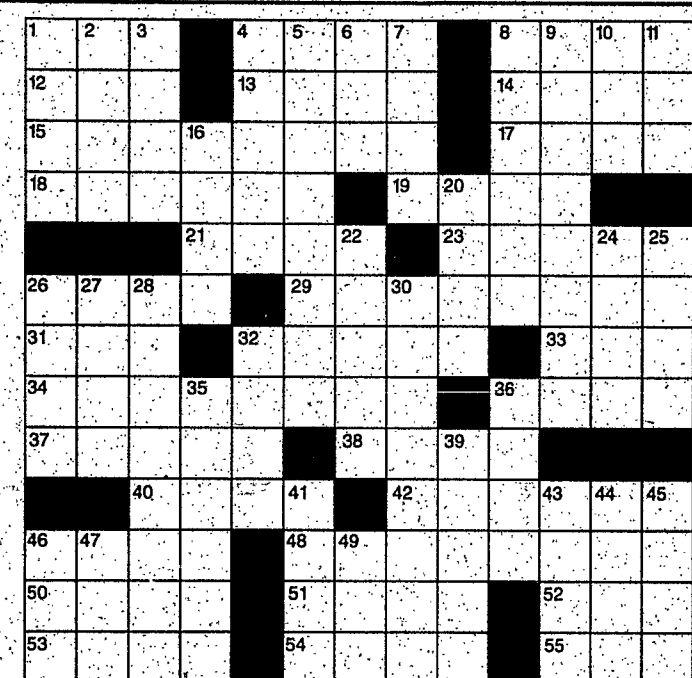

Tickets are still available for the Tim McGraw concert at the University of Southern Mississippi at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 26, in Reed Green Coliseum.

The country-western singer will be the headline performer, with country bands Blackhawk and 4 Runner opening for McGraw.

A native of Start, La., McGraw was the 1995 recipient of the Academy of Country Music's Album of the Year and Top New Male Vocalist awards, an accomplishment matched only by Clint Black.

Tickets can be obtained by certified mail or an additional $3. Requests should be mailed, with personal checks, to UAC, Box 5067, Hattiesburg, MS 38907-49306. For information or to charge tickets by Mastercard or Visa, call the UAC office from 2-4 p.m. weekdays at (601) 266-4404.

WEEKLY GAMING HOROSCOPE

BY JOEMAR THE GREAT

MONDAY, OCT. 9—I see a short, dark, stuffed stranger coming into your life, looking suspiciously like that cartoon hunk Yosemite Sam. He will seduce you at Carnival on the Coast festivities going on now through Oct. 15 at Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino. Your plans to take him home after an intoxicating Monday Italian feast at Buffet Royale for only $4.95 go awry because you are forced to wipe rich, zesty Italian sauce from your lips across his lovable face because you misplaced your napkin. You'll have to win another character—but secretly it makes you happy. Think pink.

TUESDAY, OCT. 10—The stars say tonight is going to be another red hot night on the slots at Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino, like last Saturday, when Jill Pohlmann from Chalmette won $100,000.00 on the fifth pull of a French Quarters slot. Some of her luck will rub off on you tonight if you fill out another Shop-Til-You-Drop entry for tomorrow night's big $4000.00 giveaway. And while you're at it, be sure to try the new Tex-Mex Buffet at Buffet Royale for $4.95. Just the beginning of great things down on Bayou Caddy, despite naysayers and heaps of disinformation. Big things are definitely coming.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 11—I foretell the waning of your relationship with Yosemite Sam, and your fickle heart focusing on a large pink panther you've seen hanging around at Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino. He's picky too, though, and you're going to go home alone tonight. But not without catching some of the excitement at the 10 p.m. $4000.00 Shop-Til-You-Drop giveaway, and the ruckus at 9 & 9:30 p.m. when they give away 500 bucks both times.

THURSDAY, OCT. 12—You're more than midway through the week. And speaking of midways...heck, why not: you trot on down for more of the Carnival on the Coast at Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino. Festivities and spirits are in high gear, but there's also an air of sentiment: your favorite casino, is, after all, headed for Greenville, Mississippi in a couple of weeks. You have only that long to relive all the good times, and also to shake your favorite easy slots down. But no worries: something new and exciting is on its way.

FRIDAY, OCT. 13—Friday the 13th! The unluckiest day of all—everywhere except Sydney, Australia, where it's already Saturday, and Bayou Caddy, where, because of a mysterious mix of magnetic fields and swamp gas, it's actually Friday the 14th! You may take advantage of this freakishness of nature and be assured that luck today at Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino will be good. As will their Friday Night Seafood Buffet for only $11.95. As will your luck in winning the heart and actual body of your large pink friend. And just to prove it, bring this ad to the slot club anytime, say "Joemar sent me" and receive a free Funbook, worth $75.00 in gaming and food discounts. IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—You don't smell like a monkey, and you don't look like one too.

CARNIVAL ON THE COAST

Drawing for Shopping Spree at 10 p.m. each Wed. Promotion begins on Wed., Sept. 27, 1995. Winner must live and shop within a 100 mile radius of Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino. One free entry form per person per day. Additional entry forms may be obtained by accumulating 25 Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Joe Krewes Club slot points, or with a blackjack with a $5 minimum bet. Place your entry form in the drum provided at our front entrance. Management reserves the right to alter, modify or cancel this promotion without prior notice. Must be 21 years of age. No multi-in entries will be accepted. You must be present to win. Lingo subject to availability by reservations. Offer valid for 30 days. Winner accepting limo ride must shop within 100 mile radius. It's a ship, not a boat, and it's a lot bigger than they say it is. And it's nice inside too. Real nice.

Chasing Light first novel by former state resident

BY JOHN MERIT

Special to the Echo
"He realized the abundance of fresh water surrounding him, and he would drink with verve from the abiding fountain. Sam Storm knew there would be days when the flow would trickle, and others when the flow would gush; he knew the fountain would always satisfy if he maintained his courage to drink."

And so the challenging path toward enlightenment (or self-awareness) is traveled in the recently published novel Chasing Light by Michael Prince. Prince, a journalism professor at a small university in the Texas Hill Country, takes the reader on a journey many of us know well, capturing the essence of life, love and romance.

The main character, Sam Storm, struggles to find his destiny, his freedom, his peace, his light. He will ultimately flourish in the rays of enlightenment or be burned into ashes by the inferno of a mundane existence.

Prince, 31, tapped into his own experiences and observations to write his first novel. An award-winning journalist and scholar, he worked as a reporter, photographer and editor before turning to the world of higher education.

"The process of writing Chasing Light was freeing for me," said Prince, who earned a bachelor's degree and a master's degree in communication from the University of Alabama. "My experiences as a journalist and educator have certainly helped, but there's something distinctively different about writing fiction."

"In journalism, we deal with facts and attempt to be objective and fair. With the novel, I wanted to expand my truth by looking within."

"That may sound a little offbeat, but I wanted to be honest with my emotions, my deepest thoughts and dreams. My goal was to offer myself and the reader something substantial and revealing."

Prince, whose novel Chasing Light is now available through mail order, defines enlightenment as individual peace and freedom, leading to fulfillment and happiness.

"The idea of enlightenment and self-awareness is very difficult to pinpoint for most of us," he said. "It's elusive and must be defined individually."

"I think the foundation of a higher self lives in the heart, the mind, the soul, the body, but we must open ourselves to our surroundings as well. In my opinion, the most happiness is simply the way we think, how we perceive life. It's a spiritual, magical place deep within all of us."

"I look at life as a journey of growth and enlightenment," said Prince, whose uncle, aunt and cousins — Randy, Sherry, Ashley, Jace and Patrick Ponder — live in Waveland. "We're confronted with many obstacles and decisions along the way, but if we truly understand what's important to us, we can move forward, closer to fulfillment and happiness."

Nature, love and romance are prominent in Chasing Light, and the professor said all three are important to his own pursuit of enlightenment.

"There's so much we can learn from nature," said Prince, who taught journalism at Mississippi University for Women before moving to Texas.

"For me, nature opens a passage toward self-awareness. It's magical to watch and feel a beautiful sunset disappear into the sea, to breathe crisp, fresh air from a majestic mountain, or to walk through a pristine meadow under a star-filled sky."

"Nature has a way of putting things into perspective, clearing our minds and providing peace and freedom. The Mississippi Coast is a special place, and I've found clarity, peace and freedom in the beauty that is abundant there."

"In my opinion, it is essential for us to grow," he said. "Love of life, love of friends, love of family, love of ourselves are all important. And if we're fortunate enough to find the love of a soul mate, we can share a higher world that brings our dreams and reality together. I don't think enlightenment is possible without the energy and knowledge that lives in love."

"When I talk about romance, it isn't just between lovers," Prince said. "There's romance in many areas of life — food, music, art, literature and much more. For me, romance is the passion of life. It's a way of living that can be extremely fulfilling."

Unlike many writers, Prince didn't set out to write the "great American novel." According to the author, it was a mix of his passion for art forms and the idea of enlightenment that led to the book.

"I'm captivated by the fluid combination of images in all art forms to tell the stories of life," said Prince, whose second novel, Sunset in View, will be published next year. "You can read the ardor of life in the pages of your favorite novel, or hear it in your favorite song, or see it in your favorite painting."

Doubleton design contest

St. Paul's Carnival Association is sponsoring a doubleton design contest.

The design must reflect the 1996 Mardi Gras theme of "Colors" and must be an original work of art.

The design must be circular with a 7-inch diameter, submitted on 8 1/2" x 11" white paper and drawn with black ink. It should not be creased, folded or bent in any fashion. Included should be a cover sheet explaining the design and should state name, address, social security number and telephone number.

Entries should be mailed to: St. Paul Carnival Association, P.O. Box 375, Pass Christian, MS 39571.

Prize is a $100 EE Savings Bond and a collector's set of doubletons, "A Place in History."

Deadline for entries is 3 p.m. Friday, Oct. 27. For information and additional details, call Debbie Fournier at 452-7359.

MICHAEL PRINCE

My desire to write Chasing Light evolved from reading novels by Hermann Hesse and Robert James Waller, from listening to music by Van Morrison and Bob Marley, and from observing paintings by Vincent Van Gogh and Georges Seurat. There were other influences, but these artists moved me significantly with their vision and creativity."

Chasing Light is published by Pylon Books and can be purchased by sending $17.95 (plus $3 shipping and handling) to: Pylon Books, Chasing Light, P.O. Box 126, Brownwood, TX, 76801. The book is available only in hardcover.

Donations accepted

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and Volunteers in Technical Assistance (VITA) have established a toll-free number, 1-800-342-1100, for those who want to donate materials and services to aid victims of Hurricane Opal.

"Coordination first," FEMA donations coordinator Ben Curran said. "We are urging those who want to help hurricane victims to make their donations through our coordination service." It is important to talk to a donations coordination specialist to understand the most recent needs.

Curran explained that sending items independently, though well-intended, often results in wasted generosity. "If an individual sends a shipment that is not expected, it could sit in a staging area unclaimed, or arrive at a time when severely limited warehouse space is not available," Curran said. "Additionally, we want to make sure not only that items reach victims, but they are the items truly needed within each community."

The toll-free number, 1-800-342-1100, is in operation from 9 a.m.-8 p.m. (EDT) seven days a week, until further notice.

Inscribed bricks on sale

The Pearl River Community College Development Foundation is selling inscribed bricks for $50 each.

The lasting memory is part of the foundation's 1995 "Brick by Brick — Foundation for the Future" campaign.

Donna Wilson, executive director of the foundation, said the bricks will be placed at the entrance of the newly renovated Crosby Hall.

"It's an excellent way to honor alumni for their years attending PRC, as well as their participation in the various sports, academic and extracurricular activities," said Wilson.

"Bricks may be purchased in celebration of births, marriages, anniversaries, birthdays and for memorials to and in honor of individuals," she said.

The bricks may be purchased through the foundation office located in the Alumni House on campus, or by calling 601-795-1183.
